

Sketch for Presents

This game is for two players. Below you have four game boards. For each game board select a player to go first, you must draw in your line that passes through the most presents. You must then state your line description to bank those gifts, if you cannot, then your partner will have the chance to win them if they can state the line description. The winner is the player to win the most presents at the end of each board.

Challenge: Can you decide with your partner what the best strategy for winning was if you were to go first?
